

Risk Assist

Risk Assist helps small and medium sized organisations maintain a formal, proactive risk management function that is appropriate to its needs, adds value and is very cost effective.

“Your own risk manager at a fraction of the cost”

The Challenge

Effective risk management requires a diversity of skills that many companies find difficult to justify, source and/or retain internally through a dedicated Risk Manager. It requires significant investment in people (recruiting, salary, training, professional development and on-costs) and further costs in setting up and maintaining risk management tools, templates and technology.

Most Chief Executives appreciate the need to effectively manage their risks but face a number of hurdles:

- The prohibitive cost of employing an experienced, dedicated Risk Manager.
- Difficulty in finding, motivating and retaining experienced and qualified risk professionals.
- Risk management activities may be delegated to people with other important responsibilities and priorities.

As a result, risk management activities typically have a low priority and are reactive...until a major incident occurs.
